Case Study: Consumer Goods

Dexian Successfully Helps a Leading Automotive Software Company Build Team of Developers

Challenge

Client needed to migrate significant portions of software from VB6 code to C# on a proprietary point of sale software. They also converted large point of sale applications from Microsoft Access to SQL server and developed several large reporting websites.

Solution

Dexian was able to fill 100% of the requirements through sourcing highly skilled IT candidates.

Outcome

The consultants were successful in migrating the software to a new platform within the timeframe planned. Almost all consultant contracts were extended based on high quality of work.
